Walker Crips appoints new wealth manager to strengthen its Wealth Management division

Walker Crips Wealth Management, part of Walker Crips Group plc, the national investment, wealth management and FinTech group, has appointed an experienced wealth manager to strengthen the firm's wealth management division.

James Bonarius is a highly experienced Chartered Financial Planner and member of the Chartered Insurance Institute with over 20 years' experience working in financial services. He joins from Tilney and has a proven track record for success and establishing lasting client relationships through trusted advice. He was previously at Pen-Life Associates as a senior paraplanner and before that was at Aviva Life & Pensions where he spent more than a decade. James will also be focusing on business development and growing strong client relations.

Dominic Martin, Managing Director, Walker Crips Wealth Management, says: "We welcome James and believe that he will be a strong addition to our wealth management team. He brings additional breadth of knowledge and experience to our advisory offering and forms part of our continued growth in this space. His experience and commitment to client relationships will bolster our high-quality service to the benefit of our clients. We have also added another administrator and a graduate trainee to our team, setting the foundations for our continued growth."
